Well, it looks like the race for governor is going to be between Mike Conner and Dennis Murphree through out the State, but between Conner and Bailey in Grenada County.

If Murphree should be in the run-off with Conner, the land-patent ghost will step in and grab from Dennis the prize that he has sought for 10 years many times.

If Tom Bailey should be in with Conner, then the record of successful experience in the office sought will turn the tide in favor of Conner.

Nobody takes Lester Franklin, who has many virtues, seriously, though he has about 20-30 thousand loyal followers who stick to him thru thick and thin.

I hear a good many of the white renters talking about how Conner's administration relieved them of taxes on their mules, cattle and wagons.

However Hon. Jim Blount, of Charleston, free state, said that Conner would get just two votes in Charleston, or maybe the whole of the free state—those of a preacher and of a barber. Jim, of course, is prone to exaggerate. If that is so, Conner had better get some staples, wire, stetchers and new fence posts and begin mending his fences over there. Jim belongs to the hierarchy of the free state, and his words are not to be taken too lightly.

Lowry Names Morrison Campaign Manager

T. J. Lowry, Northern District Highway Commissioner, Wednesday announced the selection of Harry Lee Morrison, prominent citizen of North Mississippi and the popular Mayor of Okolona, to manage his campaign for reelection.

Mr. Morrison was born and reared in Chickasaw County, is a graduate of Ole Miss, and has for the past twelve years practiced law in Okolona. He twice represented his native county in the State Legislature, having resigned during his second term to become Mayor of Okolona and only last year was re-elected to that office. Mr. Morrison is active in civic affairs, serving as Chairman of Chickasaw County Rationing Board No. 9-2, and of Civilian Defense. He has just recently been appointed District Chairman of Mississippi War Fund. He has on several occasions been rejected for military service.

In making the announcement Mr. Lowry stated that he was gratified over securing the service of Mr. Morrison, especially in view of his knowledge and familiarity with the highway laws of the State and the road program, having been a member of the House when the program was enacted. He also said that headquarters would be opened in Houston on June 1st and that he would wage an active campaign from then until election.

In accepting the appointment Mr. Morrison stated that he considered it a privilege to serve in the capacity and that Mr. Lowry's campaign would be based on a high, clean plane, devoid of personalities, but based solely on his candidate's record in public office, first as Penitentiary Trustee and later as Highway Commissioner. He said he felt confident the voters would give Mr. Lowry the endorsement term to which he was entitled.

The son of L. D. Boone, of Grenada, the bluejacket graduated from Grenada High School in 1941, participating in football, track, glee club and dramatic club activities while a student. ### Four Cars Of Poultry For This Territory Distribution of the first four car loads of poultry brooders and equipment, obtained for Northeast Mississippi, will start next week, with Alcon, Tippah, Tishomingo, and the north part of Prentiss counties being involved. The first car load will come to Corinth and will be distributed from that city and also from a sub-depot in Ripley.

Each unit of equipment consists of a wood burning brooder, with a capacity of 500 baby chicks; seven feeders and seven watering fountains. The equipment is a part of the 1,000 brooders and the 14,000 pieces of equipment obtained for Mississippi by the Northeast Mississippi Council, giving the state more new poultry equipment in 1943 than allotted to any other state in the United States.

Farmers accepting the program of poultry raising and marketing originated by the Council will receive this equipment at cost plus delivery charges. Arrangements can be made thru the Council for financing these farmers who need financing to engage in the program.

Quickly following the distribution of the program will come car loads of equipment, each car containing 100 brooders and necessary feeders and waterers, for the territories controlled by the Houston, Tupelo and Oxford dressing plants. Farmers wishing the privilege of obtaining the equipment should communicate with Ray Funnell at Tupelo, Marvin G. Boyd at Houston and C. S. Hanes at Oxford. F. B. Pittman, Jr., of Coffeeville, also will handle the equipment for that district. According to the arrangement made by John B. Robinson, farmers of Northeast Mississippi are first on the list to be furnished with this equipment. Any left over after this section is satisfied will be allotted to other sections of the State.

Farmers obtaining this equipment will be obligated to market its product only through the dressing plants, at government ceiling prices, so as to aid the government in controlling so-called "Black Markets" and inflation.

S. S. Roane Died Suddenly Last Thursday Night

Mr. S. S. Roane, life long citizen of Grenada, died suddenly last Thursday night, May 13, 1943. He was in his early 60s, and was the son of the late Judge and Mrs. A. T. Roane. He and Miss Lynn Young, daughter of another distinguished family, were married. One child, who died when quite young, came to this union. Mr. Roane for many years owned and managed Roane and Company, a large general furnishing business, but in later years devoted his entire attention to the operation of a large plantation owned by himself and his brother, A. G. Roane, on Tallahatchie River. His brother and constant companion, Mr. A. G. Roane, died on March 29, 1943, and grief over this loss no doubt contributed to his early death. Those of us who remember that far back remember Bell Roane as the lanky first baseman on the old Grenada baseball team which piled up such a fine record in the days of non-paid players.

Funeral and burial services were held Friday afternoon by Rev. C. A. Pharr, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, of which Mr. Roane was a life long member.

His widow, Mrs. Lynn Young Roane, and two sisters are the immediate relatives who survive. To them our sympathy is extended.

MEN OF THE Infantry Division 87

The system and set up to train men for combat is the result of good planning, which, in turn, can only be accomplished by a knowledge of the subject. Colonel Goodrich's education at West Point is an invaluable aid to his work as plans and training officer. For four years he followed a strict curriculum of training in a noble institution which rightfully prides itself on turning out the finest officers in the world. Only the best can enter, and only those mentally and physically fit go out into all branches of our Army and train others to be soldiers, can graduate. The 87th Infantry Division will profit by having Colonel Goodrich who is, indeed, a product of that school and a part of its undying spirit.

Lieutenant Colonel Walker H. Goodrich, 87th Infantry Division plans and Training Officer, was born April 1, 1910 in the State of New Hampshire. Colonel Goodrich was appointed from his native state to attend the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York. While at West Point he was a regular member of the hockey team and won his letter for three years. After graduation in 1932, with the degree of Bachelor of Science, he served at the Madison Barracks, New York, with the Field Artillery and the 29th Field Artillery. After attending the Field Artillery School, Colonel Goodrich served with the 6th Field Artillery at Fort Hyde, Maryland. He left for service with the Hawaiian Department in June, 1935, and was there when the Japanese made their treacherous attack on Pearl Harbor.

Colonel Goodrich returned to the mainland in July, 1942 and served at Camp White, Oregon. Recently he was assigned to his present post as Assistant Chief of Staff with the 87th Division.

Besides West Point, Colonel Goodrich graduated from Field Artillery School, Chemical Warfare School and Line and Staff Officers' Course.

87th Infantry Division Went On The Air

Led by Private Jules Yanever, former first violinist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, the first in a series of all-soldier radio shows featuring men of the 87th thrilled a capacity crowd of soldiers and civilians on Sunday afternoon over Station WGRM.

"We Never Crack", the song of the "Baby" Division, was officially introduced to the Mid-South as a feature event of the program. Words and music were written by Sergeant Max Behm.

Private Yanever, featured in 1939 with the New York Symphony, played the classic "Ragtime" as his contribution to the Division program. Other musical offerings were provided by the Division orchestra under the direction of Sergeant Ernest Harvey, former member of the Abilene band, and Corporal Douglas Moore who introduced the new song. The script was written by Sergeant C. H. Green, Corporal T. A. Hrupp, Private Fred Gerber and Sergeant Behm.

The successes of the initial program has assured the success of those to follow, and the second in the series is already being planned by the Special Service Officer of the Division.

Mamma Has No Dish Rag

For the past several years we have been allowing folks to buy our VOLUNTEER FLOUR with this guarantee, that if it is not satisfactory in every respect, to go ahead and use all the flour in the bag and bring back the empty bag only and get the full purchase price refunded with a smile.

I PROMISED HER

Yes mam! I promised my good lady all the empty VOLUNTEER FLOUR bags that were returned—she could use them for dish rags and save my having to buy her a supply. After several years and handling hundreds of sacks of VOLUNTEER FLOUR, the dear lady still has no dish rag made from a VOLUNTEER FLOUR sack.

SOMETHING IN THE BAG

Yes! There's a reason why we've had no VOLUNTEER FLOUR bags returned and it's because we've got something in the BAG that's good. It's soft as a rayon stocking, white as goose feathers and as easy to cook and bake with as falling off of a log when you're asleep.

IT'S LIKE SHE SAID

A good lady came the other day and said, Oh! MR. VOLLIE, why haven't you told me before now about VOLUNTEER FLOUR. It's certainly easy to cook with and it makes such good biscuits and when I have flapjacks for breakfast, my family can't get enough. Why I might as well try to fill a sink hole. She told me that she had always felt very proud of her cake baking, but now she really has something to crow over when she bakes cakes with VOLUNTEER FLOUR. Thanks lady.

Let Jim Tell It

The following speech was delivered by Senator James O. Eastland on the floor of the United States Senate, May 10, 1943:

Mr. President, it was Calvin Coolidge who said, "There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, any time."

And yet, while America fights for her existence, while she stands with her back to the wall, facing the most efficient, the most powerful, the most ruthless, the most barbarous combination of foes ever faced by any people anywhere, at any time; and while her sons are writing in human blood new chapters in that story of the valor and bravery of mankind, to decide the sole issue at stake: that is, shall the people of America be free, or shall we be enslaved? And while it is admitted that thousands of American soldiers will be unnecessarily maimed and killed unless the weapons of war are speedily manufactured in overwhelming quantities, a group of predatory agitators and labor racketeers have caused, and are causing strikes, walk-outs, and slowdowns in the vital war industries of America.

In the year after Pearl Harbor 4 1/2 million man-days were lost in strikes in American industry. In January, February and March of this year there were 905 strikes in American industry, involving 204,000 workmen, and in which 550,000 man-days labor were lost. In addition, if reports are true, a larger amount of production was lost by slowdowns in war industry. Men high in authority in the Government state that the American Army in the midst of a great war will not be completely equipped until late 1944 or 15 to 18 months in the future. In the past few days the miners in the coal industry, over 500,000 in number, have been on strike, and now by coercion, I believe, but at the direction of their leaders, threaten to strike again—a strike which would lock the wheels of vital industry, and if continued for any length of time, would cause the defeat of America, the enslavement of her people, and the slaughter of her sons. At this hour, construction of the pipeline to carry petroleum products from the oil fields of Texas to the homes and industries of the East, and which when finished will release urgently needed tankers to supply across the seas the Armies of America, has been stopped because of a strike; a strike caused by, according to the public press, the desire of certain agitators—Owen Feunier, Ted Nichols and John Rathous, labor racketeers—to force those who labor for their country on this construction project to become members of certain labor unions, and that before working on this job they must join these unions and pay tribute to these racketeers.

I ask unanimous consent to place in the record at the conclusion of my remarks, a statement of labor disturbances during the month of April of this year.

As I said, Mr. President, to win this war we must have all-out production from American industry. The paramount duty to his country of every American not in the armed forces is to produce what he is called upon by his Government to produce, and to produce it at his maximum capacity. There is a right to strike in time of peace, but there is no right to strike in time of war. The responsibility for the enactment of anti-strike legislation for the duration of the war rests upon the Congress of the United States. We must no longer temporize or conciliate. We must have general legislation which will imprison any man, regardless of who he is, who aids, abets, or encourages any strike in a war plant, or in any industry engaged in production of armaments or other war material. In my judgment, commits a crime against this nation, and should be dealt with accordingly. Strikes are treasonable in effect and character. They sabotage the war effort and endanger the lives of our soldiers, increase casualties and sacrifices of our men. Because of strikes in this time of war, men can be killed, our nation destroyed, and our people enslaved.

Mr. President, the bill of the able Senator from Texas, Mr. Connally, passed by the Senate a few days ago, is fine legislation. It squarely meets the present coal strike emergency. It means much to the war effort of this country. It is not an all-comprehensive measure, because it is impossible to pass a comprehensive anti-strike legislation in one measure.

This bill provides for the seizure of and operation by the Government of any plant where production is interrupted by strike or other labor trouble. The bill also makes it a criminal offense for any person to interfere with the operation of any plant taken over by the Government by lock-out, strike, slowdown, or other interruption, or to aid any strike by giving direction or guidance in its conduct. These principles are fine, Mr. President. But the bill is limited in its scope to strikes in plants that have been taken over and are being operated by the Government. The criminal punishment is for strikes against the Government. But we must go further than this. We must have legislation that will stop strikes and organized slowdowns in all war industry, whether operated by the Government or not. To do this we must be able to handle by law the agitator and the racketeer. Those who by causing strikes, walk-outs and lock-outs would cause, attempt to cause, or conspire to cause the stoppage or slowdown of war industry. And which would force to work that small segment of American labor and industry who would by strike, lock-out, or organized slowdowns hamper their country's war effort.

Mr. President, to accomplish this purpose, on Tuesday last I introduced in the Senate three bills. They are short bills. They are simple bills. They are important bills. They will accomplish this objective. One bill provides that until the end of the war, as proclaimed by the President, it shall be unlawful for any person to aid, encourage, request, or advise any group of employees, in an attempt to enforce labor demands, to perform less work than the maximum they can perform. It makes it unlawful for him to conspire to do so. It authorizes his incarceration in the penitentiary for up to two years if he does, attempts to do so, or conspires to do so. This is a simple bill, a just bill. But, Mr. President, the bill goes further: it provides that no person who has been convicted of a violation of the Act, and no labor organization in which such person is an officer, can be recognized as a representative of employees for the purposes of any act of Congress.

The second bill amends the National Labor Relations Act to authorize an employer engaged in the production of goods for the war effort to discharge any employee who, during the war, engages in, aids, or abets any strike, or organized slowdown of work among the employees of such employer.

The third bill, Mr. President, would draft strikers between the ages of 18 to 65 in war factories, into the Army, and reassign them if necessary to their jobs, but without overtime pay for the first 48 hours of labor each week. The loss in this overtime is just. The manufacturers' profits are not increased, because any increase in profits because of the forfeiture of overtime are recaptured by the Government.

Labor is entitled to an adequate wage. Labor is entitled to a square deal. There is now set up and in operation adequate, fair and impartial machinery to hear, determine, and do justice in all labor disputes. Give us justice is the only request that should be made by any group. But should justice be denied, there is still no right at this grave hour to strike against America.

Mr. President, these bills are fair. They are just. They are necessary for the war effort of this country. The need for comprehensive anti-strike legislation such as is embodied in these bills is urgent. Congress is the only source of power to prohibit strikes, just as it is the only source of power to draft boys and young men into the Army. It is not enough to say that the Government must first take over and operate the mines and plants before we can stop strikes or organized slowdowns of war production. This course will put the Government to operating the business of the country.

I suspect that some labor leaders desire this because they think they can fare better by Government operation. But this is not the American way. However, Government operation should be resorted to wherever necessary.

The great rank and file of American labor, Mr. President, are just as patriotic as any group of workers anywhere. They are sincere, patriotic, God-fearing Americans—the very cream of civilization. They love their country. Their sons on the islands of the seas, in the skies, beneath the surface of the oceans and on four continents of this earth are performing heroic feats of valor for their country. They desire to see the war swiftly decisively won. They desire protection from the racketeer. They desire to have their right to work in defense of their country unhampered and unimpeded by anyone. They desire their boys to quickly return home. They desire to enjoy the fruits of their labor in the American way. This is not a fight on labor; only a very small minority of labor is involved in this conduct. Labor needs protection from the grasping, greedy racketeer. The cause of labor needs protection from the saboteur who parades in labor's noble robes.

It is no answer to say that a magnificent job has been done upon the production line. The mere fact that our Army will not be adequately equipped until late 1944 proves that still much more must be swiftly done. It is not a question, Mr. President, of whether or not a man in public life is a friend of labor. It is beyond that. The public interest is paramount. The question is simply whether or not the Congress will see that an uninterrupted stream of guns, planes, tanks, and supplies reaches our fighting forces, no matter who gets in the way, and no matter who gets hurt. If it is necessary to suspend some rights for the duration, then they must be suspended; everyone must sacrifice. If saboteurs masquerade in labor's clothes, they must be ferreted out and treated like any other saboteur. A saboteur clothed with labor's power is more dangerous than the experts trained in destruction, whom Hitler recently sent to our shores, some of whom were very promptly executed.

This, Mr. President, is the greatest internal question that confronts war time America. Sabotage must be prevented. It must be punished, whether it comes from within or without. The soldier on the firing line demands these principles. The fathers and mothers of America, of every race and creed, demand them. America is sovereign. A great people's just demands must be fulfilled.

Federal Payments In Lieu Of Taxes

State and local governments have been much concerned by the loss of taxes on property taken over during recent years by the armed services and by other federal agencies. Taxes on millions of acres of land and hundreds of hotels and other structures have thus been lost.

It was to study the question of federal real estate and its bearing on state and local taxation that the Federal Real Estate Board was set up in January, 1939. The board is composed of nine representatives from as many federal departments and agencies, and was established as a result of a study made by a special committee which examined the matter of federal real estate and its bearing on state and local taxation. Recently its chief concern has been with lands acquired for military purposes. This board is expected to report soon, recommending that the Federal Government make payment in lieu of taxes lost by other governmental jurisdictions.

Several bills already have been introduced in Congress to authorize such payments. The Council of State Governments has been informed that the House of Representatives Public Lands Committee, J. Hardin Peterson of Florida, Chairman, will hold hearings on these pending bills beginning about the first or second week in May. The hearings will determine, largely, the final form which the bill authorizing payments will take. Representatives of the States who desire to be heard by the committee or who have information which they would like to introduce into the record are advised to write directly to Congressman Peterson in the House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

1. You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift.
2. You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong.
3. You cannot help small men by tearing down big men.
4. You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich.
5. You cannot lift the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer.
6. You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than your income.
7. You cannot further the brotherhood of man by inciting class hatred.
8. You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money.
9. You cannot build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence.
10. You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves.

Robert C. Christopher, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Christopher, Grenada, Miss., and husband of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Christopher, graduated this week from a course in aircraft engines conducted by the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command at the Wright Aeronautical Corporation here in Patterson, N. Christopher, who had previously graduated from an airplane mechanics school in the AAF Technical Training Command, has been promoted to corporal in recognition of his aptitude for specialized technical work. Only men who receive grades well above average in general alertness and mechanical aptitude tests are selected for technical training.

While at the Wright plant, Christopher, received specialized training in the repair and maintenance of Wright airplane engines. Now he is qualified to take his place as a specialized member of the combat crew of an Army Air Force unit.

Christopher, who attended Grenada High School, was a warehouseman for W. K. Pierce before he entered service last September. His brother, Pfc. Charles D. Christopher, is in service, stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss.

Staff Sgt. E. I. Betz, son of Mrs. Kate Weeks Betz of Grenada, is somewhere in the Southwest Pacific. Six men, including Sgt. Sgt. Betz and one other were the only ones who completed the course.

Grenada is proud of its native sons, including Staff Sgt. E. I. Betz.

Camp McCain's New WAAC Participates In Review

The one year old organization of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, which is now more than 60,000 strong, activated its first WAAC Detachment at Camp McCain, Miss., on May 15, 1943.

Third Officer Ola L. Collier is in immediate command of the unit, and Third Officer Clara E. Kramer is second in command.

Members of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps at Camp McCain have for their motto, "Release a Man for the Front", and to accomplish this mission they have demonstrated an active and efficient program from the start.

The Commanding Officer of Camp McCain, in an address before the WAACs on Monday afternoon, May 17, 1943, stated in part, "Women have proven beyond any doubt that they can perform many duties as efficiently as men. In certain types of work they are even better qualified than men. In all the Armies of the United Nations, women are rendering war service to speed the day of victory, and we welcome each of you to Camp McCain, and will soon have you assigned to important administrative and specialized jobs that must be filled by persons in uniforms and under discipline."

Falling in with many other Station Complement Units at Camp McCain, the WAAC Detachment, with Third Officer Ola L. Collier in Command, made a splendid showing in the review of troops held Saturday afternoon, May 15, 1943.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Honeycutt will leave today (Friday) for Danville, Ky., to attend the graduation of their daughter, Miss Mary Douglas Honeycutt, who will receive her diploma at Centre College.

Summer Reading Contest at Grenada County Library

The juvenile reading contest was such a success last year, that it is to be given again this summer. Nine children registered last year and about seven dollars in War Stamps were given. Contestants may begin registration on May 25. A trip around the world by plane will show the progress of the readers, as each contestant may fly his plane to another country on the completion of each book. After finishing ten books from prescribed list each child will be given a 10c War Stamp. This is a good way to fill in leisure hours and also to continue the reading habit until school begins again.

DISCUSSION GROUP IN LIBRARY Through the cooperation of Mr. John Karppeles of the USO, a weekly discussion has been set for Thursday nights at 8 p. m. in the library. Last week at the first meeting about thirty people had a lively hour on the subject "After the War" led by A. Prosser. The subject this week will be "Movies and Propaganda" and the leader will be A. Brounstein. All are welcome, come and bring a subject you would like to have discussed.

In addition to mechanical training, his course here will include army discipline and courtesy, military drill and physical exercise to put him in the peak of condition.

Men of 87th Infantry Division Well Insured

Major Gen. P. M. Clarkson's soldiers of the 87th Infantry Division have subscribed to nearly $150,000,000 worth of government insurance under the National Service Life Insurance program according to Capt Emory W. Coffield, division insurance officer.

Reports from Capt. Coffield's office show that 94.6 percent of the entire division personnel carry a government policy with 82 percent having a minimum of $10,000. The average size policy is for $3,782.00.

A continuous drive, backed by Gen. Clarkson, is being conducted by the division to have every unit subscribe 100 percent. Charts, showing daily changes, are displayed in all areas and keen rivalry exists to see which unit first flags the 100 percent goal. According to the latest report the 340th Infantry is leading with 86.8 percent of its personnel subscribed to the federal insurance. The other units of the 7th Division are subscribed as follows:

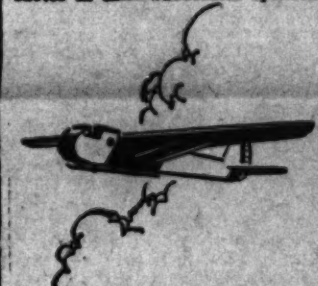

87th Division Artillery, 86.5 percent; 87th Quartermaster, 96 percent; 345th Infantry, 94.3 percent; Recon-naisance Troops, 95.7 percent; 347th Infantry, 93.3 percent; Signal Company, 93.2 percent; Division Headquarters Company, 9.8 percent; 312th Medical Battalion, 89.1 percent; 87th Ordnance Company, 77 percent and 130th Ordnance Company, 76.8 percent.

According to Capt. Coffield this insurance may be obtained until August 12 of this year without a physical examination under a recent act passed by Congress. The purpose of this relaxation being to insure every member of the armed forces for $10,000.

James Russell Lockett, wife and baby are spending a few days with Mrs. C. E. Lockett and family in Grenada. James R. is undergoing convalescence following a serious plane crash.

We are in receipt of a letter written in the name of the Camp Intelligence Office, and by direction of the Camp Commander, saying some mighty nice things about our writing concerning the necessity of civilians keeping still tongues regarding military affairs; and praising the GCW for its general attitude of helpfulness toward the camp—words which, even if not deserved, are appreciated.

All of our mailing galleries are full (other printers will understand this), and, when we add a new one, we have to cut off a subscriber who is delinquent.

The serious accident which befell our son, Whyte, Jr., last Saturday has thrown his mother and me somewhat out of gear this week and we fear, in fact we know that we have not covered the news as we should. For example we have not given anything like the prominence that the event deserved the graduation exercises at the City Schools—for which omissions we beg pardon.

Robert Grenham of the FDI is at home in Grenada for his annual vacation. Robert is eternally grateful to the men, whose names are anonymous, who helped him get started on his useful career.

Aint they sweet.

On what I consider good authority, I understand that one room in Grenada has four couples occupying it. On the word of a gentleman connected with the USO, I have the information that he knows a dozen or more cases where two couples occupy the same room. No further comment is necessary.

Juchheim had two fire alarms Tuesday but, fortunately, not at the same time. Some day he will have TWO fires at the SAME time. Then what?

Welcome to the mailing list the name of Mrs. S. B. Griffin and thanks to Mrs. Chambers for a renewal.

Much obliged to the friends and relatives in Oxford for their kindness while Whyte, Jr., was in the hospital there.

A poor negro was killed Tuesday night on the Peavine by another negro. Guess what the cause was. Yes, you have it—a woman.

You all were kind enough to furnish enough work to keep Horn and Greenfield out of devilment last week end. Do it again.

YOU WILL PROBABLY HEAR "DON'T SWAP HORSES IN THE MIDDLE OF THE STREAM"

As far as the Chancery Clerk's office is concerned we have passed the middle and are way out on the other side. At any rate all good traders swap horses before or on their 12th year to keep their stock new and up to date. Give another young man a chance. Pol. Adv.

I have always been glad that I told the late Charlie Lockett a short while before he died that his boys were always fair shooters. Speaking of the late Charlie Lockett, he has a number of fine monuments to his skill among them the new school and the Barwin Hotel, monuments that will be here many, many years.

FOR SALE: Slightly used baby buggy, rubber tires, excellent condition at a bargain. Apply GOW.

Aint they sweet.

My former favorite waitress is now working banker's hours, but she deserves it, for she has put in many a 10-hour day.

Brother T. J. Redditt, of Little Texas recently came in and had his expiration date moved 72 months ahead.

I do not see much use in going to the press convention as I have already done the main things advocated: (1) raise subscription rates, (2) raise advertising rates, and (3) cut off all dead heads.

The Pascals are in good shape on the mailing list may it be mentioned and we are two dollars to the good.

By the way, what about some candidate cards? Each candidate needs some to introduce himself.

Noted Artist Paints War Poster Just For Fun

Urging Americans to "Keep 'em Flying" through the purchase of more War Bonds, the above poster will soon make its appearance in several hundred thousand stores and display spots throughout the country. It was painted by George Schreiber, internationally known artist, whose pictures hang in the Metropolitan and Whitney Museums in New York and other museums in various cities.

(By Favorite Correspondent)

Although quite short, the wedding at the Camp are entirely adequate and very impressive. The first one that I ever attended was last Saturday night, at eight thirty, at the Chapel of the 340th, when Lt. Roland O. Fisher married Miss Edith Tillman, of the Station Hospital.

There will be no quarrelling over "rank" in this family, for both are second lieutenants, Roland being in the 340th and the Mrs. being a nurse. Roland is from Chicago, Illinois.

There was a drill time snapshooting about the whole ceremony. There was a short preliminary program of the traditional wedding music, and at 8:30 promptly, the organ swelled out the wedding march, and Second Lieutenant Tillman marched down the short aisle.

The altar was decorated with white flowers, and the first two rows of benches with nurses.

Chaplain Appleton, a First Lieutenant from Oklahoma, officiated at the ceremony.

One of the guests remarked afterwards, "strictly GI," but he was just joking, Chaplain.

Another event at the camp was the "dance exhibition" given at the Club of the 340th Saturday night by Margaret Truist and Lt. Fred Gallagher. Miss Truist is "local talent" being born in Grenada, but she has a dancing studio of her own in Pittsburgh, Penn. now. She was formerly connected with Arthur Murray. Lt. Gallagher is from Chicago. The program was mostly "boogie-woogie," with a sample of grapevine and a dash of rumba.

And over at the Division Club things were going much as usual, and the lights went blinking out at about 1:30. There must be a short circuit of something wrong with the light system. Those lights have a habit of doing that every Saturday night, and at the early hour of 11:00 on week nights. That lighting system should be fixed, for the club is the only place where the officer can relax in comfort and get better acquainted with the member of other regiments, and of their own.

The soldiers are utilizing the croquet ground of the community house every Sunday that we pass by there. And more and more of them are attending the churches, where they are very welcome. The Episcopal Church was well attended. Though we all did miss Mrs. Whitaker from the choir this is about the first time she has missed, but owing to the automobile accident of her son, it was surely excusable.

Saw Louise Hyer last night, who has been working at the Air Base for some time. She says that is wonderful. There's going to be a dance there on the 26th of this month that promises to be a gala affair.

Heard from Mr. W. W. Williams, former head of the Water Sewer and Railroad Department for Chas. T. Main, Inc. He's trying to decide between Arkansas and Baton Rouge for his next job. He was very well liked here at camp, a different feat for anyone responsible for the Water at this camp.

BIBLE TEACHINGS ON WINE'S DECEITFULNESS

LESSON TEXT—Proverbs 20:1; 23:29-35; Matthew 24:49-51.
GOLDEN TEXT—At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder.—Proverbs 20:1.

Deceitful is a good word to describe both the product and the propaganda of the liquor business. Alcoholic beverages are in themselves most deceitful, and the methods by which they are sold to the public certainly cannot commend themselves to right-thinking people.

Intoxicants are associated with social preferment, festive occasions, radiant beauty, when they ought to be connected with the bleary eye, the babbling tongue, the ragged children and brokenhearted mothers. What about the men who have lost their positions and their characters, and the women who have paid with their virtue for their love of intoxicants? Why not picture them in the beautiful magazine advertisements?

I. Wine Is a Deceiver (Prov. 20:1).

Wine is personified here as an evil demon who leads men on in the hope of some pleasure or advantage, and then lets him down to the depths of destruction. It makes him think he is great and powerful, when he is only weak and degraded. It excites him to foolishness and wild boisterousness, when he would normally be sensible, quiet and orderly. He who thought he was wise in partaking of its stimulation, finds himself deceived, and to his regret he realizes that he is a fool in the hands of a malicious deceiver.

II. Wine Is a Depraver (Prov. 23:29-35).

Depravity is a word not used as much as it was a generation ago, but it well describes the condition to which the drunkard comes in due time. And it is wine and other liquor which has depraved or corrupted him. A number of things appear in the text.

1. Liquor Destroys (vv. 29, 30). This is true morally, mentally, physically, and spiritually. Red eyes, wounds, complaining—these are only the outward signs of inward physical destruction of alcohol. We and sorrow speak of mental and social distress. The moral and spiritual destruction follows.

2. Liquor Deludes (vv. 31, 32). Its color, its sparkle and effervescence, its smooth appearance—all excite the anticipation of goodness and pleasure. And what does the drinker receive? The bite of the serpent and the sting of the adder. How true!

3. Liquor Demoralizes (v. 33). Alcohol is the handmaiden of immorality. "Strange women" come into the picture very quickly. They and the drinker soon find that drink sets them free from the limitations of decency and good sense, and the result is beyond description.

Those who defend liquor, or temporize with this problem, may as well recognize that they are encouraging the moral destruction of our boys and girls. It is a terrifying responsibility!

4. Liquor Dulls Man's Senses and Dazes Man's Mind (vv. 34, 35). Only a fool would lie down to sleep in the midst of the sea, or on top of the mast of a ship, or in the gutter, or against a lamp post. That's what drink does for a man.

His perceptions become so dull that he can be beaten, and he does not know he has been hurt. Exposed to inclement weather, he knows not enough to seek shelter. His money is lost or given away without concern on his part.

And when he sobers up—what then? His faculties are so dazed that he can think of only one thing to do, and that is to seek more wine. What is it that Scripture says about the dog and the fool? (See Prov. 26:11).

III. Wine Is a Destroyer (Matt. 24:49-51).

We have already touched on that point in its personal application, but now we see it in its bearing on his occupation and standing in the community.

The contrast is between the good servant who recognizes that his one and constant obligation is to serve, whether his master is present or absent, and the evil servant who violates his trust.

Notice that his first thought after cruelty to his fellow servants is to satisfy his appetite "to drink with the drunken."

Cruelty, mismanagement, unfaithfulness are tied up without question with drinking. Is it not so today? If you doubt it, read your daily newspaper. Why trifle with anything which keeps such evil company? You may find yourself mixed up with them beyond your ability to get free.

The final result is the loss of his position and of his life. Who will deny that this aptly states the end of the drunkard's way. But someone says: "I do not intend to be a drunkard. I only take a social drink." That is the way the drunkard started. Why begin to travel that road?

Sikh's Sharpened Quoit Was a Terrible Weapon

The Sikh soldiers in the native British-Indian army wear a quoit, either in full size or in miniature, around their regimental badge.

The quoit is the traditional weapon of the Sikhs. It is a steel hoop (much the same size as the rope quoit with which people play on board ship) sharpened to a razor-like keenness on the outer edge. It can be a terrible weapon in the hands of a skilled thrower.

But the quoit is never used nowadays in actual warfare, and any quoits displayed in the headdress of Sikh soldiers are unsharpened.

Modern Couch End Units Create Parlor Transformation at Little Cost

THE unit in the upper sketch is the handwork of two amateurs; one using hammer and saw, and the other doing plain sewing. The size of your radio, your tall books and short books, as well as the things to be stored behind the doors will govern the proportions of the end units. Make a rough plan on paper first with all dimensions indicated. If you do not have the tools for making grooves the shelves may rest on metal angles screwed to the sides of the unit. These angles are useful also for strengthening the corners.

Famous Physician Was Gracious With Encore!

The wealthy man had cracked a rib, and a slight operation was necessary. He engaged a famous specialist.

Local doctors were excited at the prospect of a visit from a big name, and their request for permission to watch the operation was granted.

When the patient came out of the anesthetic he found himself smothered in bandages. He summoned the nurse.

"What's all this?" he demanded. "Well, sir, it was such a beautiful operation, and the applause was so tremendous that Dr. Hugo took out your appendix as an encore."

Household Hints

Shoe bathing caps are difficult to get, we can still keep our hair or curls from getting wet by placing a large oiled-silk bowl cover over our heads when taking a shower or bath.

Jam will not keep in jars that have held fat, no matter how much you have washed them.

Cotton plique frocks easily scorch under a hot iron. Re-wash the garment immediately in warm water and soap flakes. This treatment will remove the scorch if not particularly bad.

Potatoes to be french fried should stand in cold water at least an hour before cooking.

When cleaning fish, use a pair of scissors instead of a knife to cut off the fins, thus saving your fingers.

If the young son catches his good linen suit on a nail and you have nothing with which to patch it, take a piece from the back of the shield. This place does not show and the shield can be lined with another material.

A small tapered tuck in the instep of a stocking will pull down out of sight a darn in the heel.

When cutting out a garment of corduroy, be sure to arrange the pattern on the material so that each part runs from neckline to hem the same way. If cut otherwise, some parts of the finished garment will appear lighter than others.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Whether South American sources of natural rubber are exhausted or whether the supply of rubber is being depleted by the war, the fact remains that rubber is a scarce commodity. It is a material which is essential to the war effort, and its shortage is a serious problem.

In 1941, 90 per cent of all tires in America were in use.

We need the most efficient tires on our planes, tanks, ships, and trucks. We need tires that will last as long as possible. We need tires that will give us the best possible performance.

There is a way to get the most out of your tires. There is a way to make them last as long as possible. There is a way to make them give you the best possible performance.

Allied Generalship, Planes and Guns
Decisive Factor in Tunisia Windup;
Farm Situation Improves, Davis Says;
Red Drive Perils Nazi Caucasus Hold

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

TUNISIA:
Master Generalship

Axis resistance in Tunisia had steadily crumbled as the Allied armies moved inexorably toward their goals. As American artillery pounded the Bizerte harbor area setting fire to wharves and docking facilities, the British First Army had swept over the Tunisian plains leading to the capital city of Tunis.

The moves on Bizerte had been expedited by the capture by American and French forces of hilly strongholds protecting Lake Achkel and Lake Bizerte. In mopping up operations in the Mediterranean coastal region the Allies had continued to capture numerous prisoners.

In analyzing the results of the successful offensive, observers credited master Allied generalship with outmaneuvering the Axis. The Allied high command had led the enemy to believe that the principal blows would be struck by General Montgomery's British Eighth Army from the south. After the Axis had thrown heavy strength to repel Montgomery, American forces in the Bizerte area and British First Army forces before Tunis had struck crushing blows simultaneously.

Europe Drive 'Sure'

As the North African climax had approached, Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, had declared there is "no question but that there will be Allied operations on continental Europe this summer." Expressing his confidence that the Allies would clean up Tunisia in time to permit invasion of the continent this year, Davis added that it might possibly be necessary to leave a pocket of Axis resistance of Bizerte to be reduced by sustained pounding even while continental operations were under way. Following the death of Lt. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, Lt. Gen. Jacob L. Devers was named U. S. European commander.

STRIKE BAN:

More Power for WLB

Congress moved swiftly to strengthen the government's hand in dealing with strikes.

First step was the senate's overwhelming enactment of legislation empowering the government to take over plants in which war production is stopped by labor disputes and making it a crime to instigate a strike in war plants or mines which have been taken over by the government.

The senate measure was a much-amended version of a bill by Senator Connally of Texas to give congressional sanction for government seizure of struck plants and mines. Originally introduced months before, it had lain dormant until John L. Lewis refused to submit the soft coal wage dispute to the War Labor board and the miners' work stoppage resulted. The final version contained a clause giving the WLB legal power to enter and settle labor disputes.

As the bill went to the house, it provided maximum penalties of one year's imprisonment or $5,000 fine upon anyone guilty of inducing a strike or slow-down in a government-operated plant.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

LOS ANGELES: Government orders for lemon pectin as a blood plasma replacement are keeping southern California lemon products plants busy 24 hours a day, it was announced by the Fruit Growers Exchange. The new byproduct of lemons is used in place of blood plasma in treating human beings suffering from shock, and saves the plasma for transfusion purposes.

RUSSIA:
Nazi Setbacks

Hammering at the northeast approaches to Nazi-held Novorossisk, Russian forces had captured numerous towns, including Krymkaya and killed 10,000 German troops in a smash through the Kuban delta bulge of the Caucasus toward the Black sea.

Although the Axis forces were weakened by the break-through, Hitler had been preparing for weeks for action by bringing up fresh troops, tanks and munitions.

The capture of Krymkaya had two strategic benefits. It placed the Red army in a position to seriously menace Novorossisk and it enabled the Russians to cut the German-held railroad between Novorossisk and Protoka, 36 miles northeast of the port.

Significant was a Soviet report announcing the presence of powerful Russian naval units in the Black sea, led by the flagship "Paris Commune." This sea force was awaiting an opportunity to pounce on any German attempt to evacuate troops from the Caucasus.

FARM PROSPECTS:
Situation Improves

Heartening tidings that the farm labor, equipment and supply situations are showing "improved promise" were heralded by Chester C. Davis, food administrator.

"A current appraisal of the farm labor situation," he declared in a letter to James F. Byrnes, economic stabilization director, "indicates that there is an available labor supply sufficient to produce and harvest a 1943 crop up to the levels of the announced goals."

While not entirely satisfactory, Mr. Davis said, the farm machinery and supply situation for 1943 recently has been improved. He revealed that the War Production board has agreed to permit an increase in farm machinery production from 23 to 40 per cent of the 1940 level and an increase in repair parts to 100 per cent of the 1940-41 average. The petroleum administration has promised full gasoline supplies for food production, even if further cuts in civilian supplies should be necessary, he added.

COAL:

Take and Give

Reversing the procedure of "give and take," Fuel Administrator Harold L. Ickes announced a new "take and give" policy as an insurance against any new coal emergency. The doughy interior secretary set up machinery by which he may take coal from persons or plants with safe margins of supply and turn it over to those caught short.

The action was taken at a time when coal miners of the nation were at work on a 15-day truce before final settlement of wage demands had been made.

Mr. Ickes issued regulations setting up procedure under which he could act to protect war plants and essential civilian users from shortages, regardless of whether they arose from a work stoppage in mines, faulty distribution or other causes.

Victory Garden Is
Ration Book's FriendOpportunity to Save
2,772 Ration Points

A 25 by 50-foot garden plot plus 25 tomato plants, a couple of pounds of seed and someone to plant, harvest and can them, equals 2,772 ration points saved in the course of a year.

So let ration points, as well as nutritive values and the family budget, provide the yardstick by which you measure returns from your 1943 garden. That's the advice given by Prof. F. G. Helyar of Rutgers university, chairman of the state Victory garden and food conservation committee.

And remember, if you have not yet started your Victory garden, it's not too late. But you must get busy now.

The plan on which he has figured the 2,772-ration point return, based on present point values, includes two rows of tomato plants, each row 50 feet long; two rows of snap beans, planted from a pound of seed; two rows of carrots, planted with an ounce of seed; and a similar planting of beets and of lima beans, for which an ounce and a pound, respectively, of seed will be needed. Professor Helyar estimates that on the average the tomatoes will yield three bushels of fruit, or 54 quart jars and 1,481 ration points. The other crops, measured on the same basis, will produce as follows: snap beans—one bushel, 16 quarts, 256 points; carrots—one bushel, 16 quarts, 400 points; beets—one bushel, 16 quarts, 256 points; and lima beans—one bushel (in the pod), nine quarts, 274 points.

Measured from this standpoint, it is obvious that the garden will not only help keep an average-size family fed in accordance with good standards of nutrition for the year, but it will save them from spending their ration points for foods that will probably be drastically needed by families in metropolitan and city areas who are unable to garden, Professor Helyar adds.

Commercial Uses for Our Citrus Fruits

Back in 1920, grapefruit was an inexpensive delicacy. Have you heard of the woman who boiled one for hours and could not make it tender? Today, five times as much grapefruit is grown and it is well known by rich and poor.

Our grapefruit is grown mostly in Florida, Texas, Arizona and California. California and Florida produce 97 per cent of our oranges and virtually all lemons are grown in California. These citrus fruits are used almost entirely for food, but there is still a great waste from canning and marmalade making and a need to find non-food uses for citrus.

Orange and lemon oil is produced commercially in California. Grapefruit oil is a very new product valued in the textile industry to fix turkay red dye. The peel and pulp of citrus fruits may also become an important source of pectin which is sold commercially to add to other fruit juices in making jelly. It may also be possible to recover some of the valuable vitamins and turn them to commercial uses.

Citric acids are being produced for food flavors and uses in medicine. Novel food products are appearing, such as citrus powder and citrus butter. Canning of grapefruit bears and juice has been on the increase, about 62 per cent coming from Florida canneries and 36 per cent from Texas.

Until the present European war, the United States was on the way to developing a fine export trade in fresh oranges and canned grapefruit.

When the word went out that soldiers overseas wanted packages from home—the response was so overwhelming that Uncle Sam reluctantly had to call a halt. Today, due to shipping space, there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men—but you can still send packages to soldiers in the U. S., and to Sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen wherever they are. When you do, remember—one of their favorite gifts is cigarettes, and the favorite brand is Camel. Sales records in Post Exchanges and Canteens show that Camel is first choice with men in all the services. So send him that carton of Camels today.—Adv.

SENIORS PRESENT "ORCHIDS AND ONIONS"

On Friday night, April 30, a large number of GHS students, as well as numerous other citizens of Grenada, were for almost two hours packed in the school auditorium. To witness the side-splitting performance of "Orchids and Onions" of course. The host of the cast to have sanding room only was almost fulfilled. The Seniors who had been heralding for weeks the coming of the night of their play, were justly proud of their cast and their coach, Miss Estelle Turner. Even the Juniors who were confident that nothing could surpass their acting had to admit that the Seniors were "strictly all right."

Jay Gore, with his bay window and gray hair, was quite a convincing middle-aged "wolf." Marguerite Stanley was just as good as a "middle-aged fraud. Rogers Pleasants was perfect as a meek, timid roomer doing a bad imitation of an animal hunter. Mary Lib Horton, in love with Rogers and trying to hide her past, was really good. Margaret Canno, a servant, and Lynn Rose, her sweetheart, and the villain, made a unique couple, while Lucy Moss and Bennie Moore, a young married pair, were completely devoted. For Mary Nell Rayburn and Joe Mitchell, constantly having misunderstandings and relative trouble, everything turned out all right. The colored servants, Billy Buck Shaw and Ruth Townes, were something different in the way of colored comedians.

The whole play was a success, and the Seniors are to be congratulated.

THE HOME FRONT

Southerners have received $600,000,000 worth of war contracts, five percent of the national total. And a milestone has been reached in the war program. We have been building new shipyards, factories, Army camps. WPB now announces that there will be less development, greater output from this point forward.

The emphasis will change from building to producing. There will be a reduction in the demand for labor, but construction crews will become production shifts. For the first time, America is ready to deliver the goods.

MANY TRAINING CAMPS

While the South has had less than the national average of industrial war contracts, there have been more airports, Army bases, Naval installations and supply depots constructed down here.

Among the Southern States, Alabama has had the most Government money spent for industrial plants. Georgia the most in aircraft contracts. Florida the greatest amounts for shipyards, airports and Army camps. Tennessee the most in miscellaneous pro## duction contracts.

HUGE CIVILIAN ARMY

More people have signed up for Civilian Defense than have been inducted into the armed forces. Two years old this week, OCD has enlisted 12,000,000 volunteers, thus becoming larger than the proposed 11-million man army of the United States.

The army has decided that no more V-mail photos can be sent overseas. But packages may now be mailed a soldier overseas, if the sender can show the post office a letter requesting the item. The letter must bear the APO cancellation. This isn't necessary for first class parcels of eight ounces or less.

EXTRA GAS

Members of the armed forces on leave or furlough for three or more days may obtain up to five gallons of gas for personal errands when he or she can't get around town any other way.

Local OPA boards have been given powers to revoke gas rationing when a motorist is charged with driving over 35 miles an hour or abuse of his tires. Formerly, the boards had to refer such cases to the district OPA office.

MOTORISTS SPEEDING UP

Recent checks show an increase in car speeds which is called "alarms" in view of the need to save tires.

Farmers are being asked to increase milk production.

The need for nurses is acute; high school graduates are being offered scholarships to study nursing. Housewives who sell part of the stuff they put up at home, can figure that all home canned fruits and vegetables have a "point" value of eight points per quart.

June brides won't find so wide a variety of silver patterns to choose from this year; silver has become too important a war material.

Rationing of wood, gas and kerosene heating and cooking stoves will begin late in June.

Prices of hams have been reduced by OPA one to three cents per pound.

The Peanut PATROL is helping WIN THE WAR!

Make Every Acre of Peanuts COUNT IN 1943

With the need for more oil to help win the war, every acre of peanuts must be made to count. Good stands and high yields must be obtained. There must be no waste of seed, fertilizer and labor. Every acre must be made to fight for Uncle Sam.

To obtain good stands and high yields the United States Department of Agriculture and your county agent recommends the following important practices:

— Select well drained, medium fertile, sandy loam soils with clay sub-soil. Peanuts are subject to damage from crab grass and other weeds and should follow some clean cultivated crop like cotton.

— Prepare a finely pulverized seed bed by plowing and harrowing.

— Use best grade of seed obtainable of either Small Spanish or Alabama Runner type.

— Treat seed with Ceresan or other dust disinfectants to prevent seed rot and damping-off.

— Plant Small Spanish 4 to 6 inches in drill in 2 to 2½ foot rows. Plant Runners 8 to 10 inches in drill in 2½ to 3 foot rows. Hand shell seed. Plant about cotton planting time. Cover seed 1½ to 2 inches deep on light sandy soils and 1 to 1½ inches on heavier soils.

— Unless previous crop was well fertilized apply 100 pounds of superphosphate and 50 to 100 pounds of muriate of potash plus 400 pounds of dolomite limestone, or 250 to 300 pounds of 0-14-7, per acre.

— Cultivate clean in early stages of growth to prevent grasses and weeds from getting a start. Use weeder or spike-tooth harrow in first cultivations. Later, use scrape or sweep to kill grass or weeds and work loose soil around the vines. When the plants begin to form pegs, cultivate with an implement that works the soil toward the plants.

After the pods begin to form, they should not be disturbed; keep the middle clean by cultivating with narrow sweeps.

SOUTHERN FARMERS have been asked to grow 5,500,000 acres of peanuts in 1943. This is a million acres more than in 1942 and two-and-one-half times the acreage planted in 1941.

But there's a good reason for this increase. America's entry into the war cut off huge imports of vegetable oils from the far east. American farmers are therefore asked to produce the vital vegetable oils so essential to our war effort.

More peanut oil is needed, not only for food but for military uses. Defeat and death of American soldiers on the field of battle could result from a lack of peanut oil. No one but our farmers can produce the peanuts which are needed. Every farmer who raises more peanuts is helping to win the war for peanuts are powerful fighters in this war.

PEANUTS Essential to War Effort

Here's proof of the importance of maximum peanut production in our war effort:

— Peanuts produce nutritious food for our boys and our allies. Peanut butter, vegetable shortening, salad oil and oleomargarine are just a few of the nutritious food products produced from peanuts.

— Peanut oil is used to make explosives for shells and bombs, anti-freeze and cooling fluids for fighting planes, special lubricants for high speed motors and metal turning lathes, paints and varnishes for protective coatings of ships, tanks, planes and guns.

— Peanut meal is fed to poultry and live stock. More peanuts mean more peanut meal will be available for producing more hams, bacon and eggs—all high rating fighting food.

Indeed "Fighting Peanuts" growing on and harvested from your farm will help win this war!
